

HOT SHOT FOR MAJOR RAY

ARMY AND NAVY REGISTER DE-PLORES HIS ENTRY INTO POLITICS.

A FORMER CONDUCTOR IN SEDALIA

Alleged Participation in Taft Campaign Is in Violation of President Roosevelt's Order About Executive Civil Service.

A few years ago Beecher B. Ray was a resident of Sedalia and was employed as a conductor on the Missouri Pacific. His wife was formerly a Miss Plant, of Booneville. Both were well known in Central Missouri towns.

In the first McKinley presidential campaign, Conductor Ray organized McKinley clubs among the railroad men throughout the country, and so successful was he that he attracted the attention of the late Mark Hanna, chairman of the national republican committee.

Following the election of McKinley, Ray was appointed a paymaster in the United States army, with the rank of major.

Major Ray got equally busy in the second McKinley campaign, and it appears he has already shied his castor into the Taft presidential arena, as seen by the following dispatch from Washington, D. C.:

The Army and Navy Register, regarded as expressing the opinion of both services, in its last issue severely arraigns the alleged participation of Major B. B. Ray, of the army, in the Taft campaign. The editorial refers to President Roosevelt's executive order of June 15, 1907, reading as follows:

"No person in the executive civil service shall use his official authority or influence for the purpose of interfering with any election or affecting the result thereof. Persons who, by the provisions of these rules, are in the competitive classified civil service, while retaining their right to vote as they please and to express privately their opinions on all political subjects, shall take no active part in political management or political campaigns."

The editorial then continues: "It will be seen that this does not interfere with the prerogative of any private citizen who wishes to vote in accordance with his political convictions, nor does it encroach upon the right of the employee to discuss politics with his friends. This policy embodies all that is required in the preservation of personal liberty, and protects the government service from the invasion of cheap politics. It is a policy justified by wise and prudent considerations, and there should be no exceptions to its beneficial application."

"There is such an exception furnished, however, by the experience of Major B. B. Ray, of the pay department of the United States army, who is in this country from his post in the Philippines on a protracted leave of absence, variously extended from the original two months' leave granted him by the military authorities in Manila."

"The history of the incident attending Major Ray's absence from his legitimate duties and employment in a more or less conspicuous way in politics is interesting, to say the least. Major Ray was expected, after several extensions of leave, to return to the Philippines on the army transport leaving San Francisco on July 5 or 6. Then he received authority to delay his departure until July 11, when he should take the Pacific liner."

"He was reported by the military authorities in San Francisco as among the passengers on the army transport leaving July 6. He was not a passenger on that steamer nor on the Pacific liner leaving a few days later. He remained in Chicago, being frequently interviewed as to his work in connection with the republican presidential campaign. He notified the war department that he would be in Chicago during July and August, thus importing the first information of his latest extension of leave, which is now understood to terminate some time in October."

"The withdrawal of Major Ray from his station in the Philippines is a grave mistake on the part of those who regard that officer's services as of any value to Mr. Taft in the conduct of his campaign for president."

"If Major Ray is of no use in the presidential campaign, his activity in politics might very well be discouraged. And the most use he is to any candidate in the presidential contest the less reason there is for Mr. Taft, formerly secretary of war, to employ his member of the commissioned personnel of the army. It is dragging the army into politics in a petty way, and it may well be imagined that Mr. Taft is the last man to require as he should be the last man to seek such aid."

Death of Mrs. S. M. White.

PRISONER NOT IN COURT

ALBERT DOWNING'S $200 BOND DECLARED FORFEITED BY JUDGE GRESHAM.

IS SAID TO HAVE GONE TO KANSAS

An Alias Writ Ordered and the Case
Continued Until Next Monday, When Possibly He Will Be in Court.

The preliminary hearing of Albert Downing, formerly chief engineer at the new Missouri Pacific shops, charged with having ravished Linnie Bell Workman, a minor daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. A. Workman, and against whom a charge of carnal knowledge of the same girl is also pending, was called before Judge H. M. Gresham, ex-officio justice of the peace, in police court at 10 o'clock this morning.

Prosecutor Dow announced that the state was prepared to proceed, when C. C. Kelly, Downing's attorney, arose and asked for a continuance, stating that Downing had gone to Kansas to prepare for the defense and was not in the city.

Prosecutor Dow asked that a default in Downing's $200 bond, signed by ex-Alderman F. F. Hugelman and the prisoner's brother-in-law, W. R. Dudley, of Kansas City, be recorded. The request was granted.

Judge Gresham then issued an alias writ and gave it to the officers to rearrest Downing and have him in court next Monday morning, to which time the hearing was postponed.

One of Downing's bondsmen was called by telephone last night by a relative of Downing and told not to be uneasy in case the prisoner did not appear in court today, as the speaker would see that the bondsmen did not lose anything.

NOTED BOYCOTTING CASE

Is Being Watched With Interest by Mr. Bryan.

Fairview, Lincoln, Neb., July 21.—Mr. Bryan is taking the keenest interest in the action of Justice Anderson, of the supreme court, indicting Samuel Gompers, John Mitchell and Frank Morrison to show cause why they should not be punished for contempt in the case of the American Federation of Labor officers and the Buck Store & Pange company, of St. Louis.

The case is directly within the plank in the Denver platform, and it is believed it will be seized upon by Mr. Bryan as an illustration of the need of a law which will accord to the accused a trial by jury.

MESSAGE FROM THE MAYOR

Of New York to Mayor of Chicago
Delivered This Morning.

Chicago, July 21.—Y. M. C. A. messengers bearing word from Mayor McClellan, of New York, to Mayor Busse, of Chicago, reached the city hall here at 9:38 this morning.

The distance of 1,600 miles was covered in 119 hours and 22 minutes.

In the absence of Mayor Busse, the message was received by Vernon L. Bean, secretary of the civil service commission.

Mrs. Carter Is Hostess.

FATHER'S WATCH IS LOST

ALSO MONEY THAT C. A. COLE, KATY BRIDGEMAN, WAS SUPPOSED TO HAVE.

THE SON PAYS A VISIT TO SEDALIA

Left This Morning for McBaine to Interview Members of the Crew
Who Were With His Father
When Fatally Hurt.

R. J. Cole, of Holly, New York, son of the late C. A. Cole, the Katy bridge builder who was fatally injured on July 9th, by being run over by a train in the local yards, dying the next morning at the company hospital, is in Sedalia making inquiry into his father's death, and acting as administrator of the estate.

Mr. Cole went to McBaine, Mo., this morning, where the crew of which his father was a member is at work. He will go from McBaine to Adair, Okla., to look after some property owned by the deceased father.

Mr. Cole gleaned some information not brought out at the inquest held by Coroner Miller on July 13th, and it is probable that the investigation will be reopened, or other steps taken before he leaves this section of the country. Cole's watch and some small articles which dropped from his pockets at the time he was run over, which were picked up by a young man immediately after the train "pulled out," have not been recovered, and the son states that the hospital attendants say nothing in the shape of personal effects of any kind had been delivered to them.

He has hopes of regaining at McBaine the watch and some money which he has reason to believe his father carried at the time he was injured, believing that some member of the crew has them and is awaiting an opportunity to give them over to relatives.

NOT THE RUSSIAN ADMIRAL

Berlin, July 21.—The announcement made yesterday from Baden, Aueheim, Germany, that Vice Admiral Rojestvensky, who commanded the ill-fated Russian fleet at the battle of the Sea of Japan, had died there July 19, is incorrect. A Russian named Rojestvensky died there, but he was not the admiral.

YOUNG WOMAN OF GREAT BEAUTY

The Rev. Fr. Philip Mucci Fell in Love, and Was Expelled From Church When He Told of Infatuation for Girl.

Philadelphia, Pa., July 21.—Behind the belated announcement made to a few friends by Miss Rose Rossi, a pretty Italian girl, of 1423 Ellsworth street, that she had been married somewhere in the western part of the state last December to Philip Mucci, is a romance which has stirred not only "Little Italy," where the pair live, but the entire Roman Catholic archdiocese.

Mucci, at the time he fell in love with the girl, was a Catholic priest of the Augustinian order, attached to the Church of Our Lady of Good Counsel, Christian street, above Eighth.

His bride was the leading choir singer in the church. Her remarkable soprano voice and striking appearance made her a belle in the Italian quarter, with admirers by the score. Father Mucci became interested in the girl, and was a frequent visitor to her home.

One day the priest disappeared from the rectory, and at the same time the girl left her home. Then came a letter from the priest to the Rev. Angelo Caruso, rector of the Italian church, explaining the former's attachment for the young woman and his intention to woo her. His expulsion from the priesthood soon followed. Father Mucci was 25 years old, and had been a priest only a short time.

A GREAT REFORM.

There can be no doubt that one of the greatest political reforms ever brought about in this country will have been consummated when the selection of United States senators directly by the people is secured.
Most of the good legislation which has failed of enactment has met its death in that august body, and most of the vicious and objectionable laws passed by congress have had their origin there, too. The senate has long been discredited before the people.
They have lost confidence in it. Its motives are always questioned and its acts generally suspected. There is a confirmed opinion that the senate has ceased to represent the public, except in so far as it may do so with conflicting with obligations more blatant. The feeling is that the senate is constituted of special interest representatives, whose principal occupation is to secure legislation favorable to their clients and prevent that which is unfavorable, and whose side-line pursuit is to pass "harmless" laws for the public.

The correctness of this view is attested by the record of the senate.
Its work in the last session of congress is still fresh in the minds of the people, and what it then did, or rather what it did not do, does not differ greatly from the proceedings of previous sittings which have passed out of their memory.

The senate is what it is accused of being because it is not responsible directly to the people, and it can only be made so by drawing its credentials directly from them. Perhaps not all the evils that now predominate in the senate can be eradicated by popular nomination or election of its members. Men unfit and unworthy to sit in its halls will creep in under any system of election, just as they do in the house and in legislatures, but their number will be so reduced that they will be the exception and not the rule, if they hold their commission from the voters.

Direct selection of the senators is now approved by an overwhelming percentage of the electorate, but the methods for bringing about the change are so involved as to enable a comparatively opposing few in governmental authority to block and delay action. While upwards of thirty state legislatures have under the compulsion of public opinion pronounced in favor of the reform, politicians in others have so successfully set themselves against it that constitutional amendment by this process is still remote. It can, however, be hastened by the alternative method of congressional initiative. To bring this about parties must declare for popular election of senators in their platforms and keep the pledge when entrusted with the reins of government.

The republican party stands opposed to the change. Its national convention in Chicago this year refused to incorporate a provision of this character in its resolutions. The interests which profit by the present system are in control of the party.
The democratic national convention declared for popular election of senators, as it did for other important reforms which the republican convention declined to indorse, which is one of many reasons why a change in governmental machinery at Washington would be an excellent thing for the country.

COWHERD'S STRENGTH GROWING

The stampede to William S. Cowherd, the Kansas City candidate for the nomination for governor, which began early last week is continuing this week with greater force, and reports from all parts of the state are to the effect that Cowherd sentiment is sweeping other candidates out of the race, says the Kansas City Post.

Weeks ago Mr. Cowherd invited every voter in the state to inspect his record as a public official with the most careful and closest scrutiny.
He declared that if any man could point to any part of his record, either in congress or as mayor of Kansas City, wherein he betrayed the trust reposed in him, he would withdraw from the race. Cowherd's friends here say the democrats of Missouri, as well as the few enemies of the Kansas Cityan, have examined his record and nowhere have they found that it could be assailed. With the close of each week of the campaign Cowherd has grown stronger and his opponents weaker, and from the developments of last week it appears that Cowherd will be nominated by such a majority as no other candidate for the gubernatorial nomination ever received in this state.

Mr. Cowherd will speak tonight in Clay county, just across the river from his home. In old "democratic Clay" the name of William S. Cowherd has for years stood for honesty, integrity, ability and fearlessness.
Cowherd, there, has always been recognized as one of the ablest democrats in the state of Missouri, and is admired by the entire democracy in that county, where republicans are so scarce that they seldom go to the trouble of selecting candidates for county offices.

As proof of the wide-spread, whirlwind stampede to Cowherd, an editorial in the St. Louis Times, an independent newspaper in that city, in last Saturday's edition is significant. The editorial said:

"Unless there is a mighty change in sentiment within the democratic party between now and August 4, William S. Cowherd will be nominated for the governorship. Looking for reasons of the seeming assurance of Cowherd's success at the polls, the first discovery that the investigator makes has to do with experience. Mr.
Cowherd is a trained public servant.
He has been mayor of Kansas City.
By all accounts he made a good mayor. He has been a member of congress. His record there will stand the most direct and painstaking scrutiny. Mr. Cowherd is a good lawyer, a good speaker, a level headed administrator of affairs; in other words, he is equipped for the serious work that lies ahead of the man who is to sit in the executive chair of this state. As an independent newspaper the Times has no party interest in this or any other contest. The point of the matter is: Mr. Cowherd has the better of the race and seems certain of nomination, which impression is given forth as this newspaper's view of a very interesting political situation."

It is not the man who exerts himself most physically that accomplishes most, but the one who knows how to take advantage of things. The most successful merchant lets newspaper advertising sell his goods for him while he saves his breath for other things.

Carrie Nation asserts that she has no interest whatever in politics.
This is a little surprising in view of

CELEBRATION OF TERCENTENARY

Today's Festivities Were Ushered in by the Arrival of the French and American Warships—
A Fine Program.

Quebec, July 21.—Pomp and pageantry, such as has never before been witnessed in the new world will mark the first performance this afternoon of the Quebec tercentenary spectacle on the Plains of Abraham.
The day's festivities were ushered in by the arrival of the French and American ships of war, which were given a vociferous greeting by the assembled spectators as they swept past the Isle d' Orleans.

A preliminary reception to official guests, including some of the most distinguished men of Great Britain, Canada, France and the United States, followed the arrival of the warships. This afternoon's performance on the plains, the first of the series, will be witnessed by thousands of spectators from the big grandstand and every other point of vantage. This evening will be given the first performance of Felicien David's symphonic ode, "Christophe Colombo."

His royal highness the Prince of Wales will arrive tomorrow on board the British cruiser Indomitable and will make his official landing at 4 o'clock in the afternoon. The prince is accompanied by a brilliant staff, and the reception will be the most noteworthy event of the kind in the dominion's history. This will be the prince's second visit to Canada. The first was in 1901, when the prince was accompanied by the princess the royal couple traveling as the Duke and Duchess of Cornwall and York.

The original intention of the royal couple was to visit Australia for the purpose of participating in the inauguration of the new commonwealth as the federation of the various states was called, but the idea of having the party return to England via Canada was enthusiastically taken up and a formal invitation having been extended it was accepted.

Traveling on a steamship and accompanied by a flotilla of warships, the duke and duchess reached Quebec on September 16, 1901, and were received amidst evidences of great rejoicing by the leading Canadians, military and civilian.

After visiting Montreal and Ottawa, the journey across the continent to Victoria, B. C., was commenced.
During the long trip across the country many novel and entertaining events were participated in, the Indian encampments furnishing no little of the interest to the occasion.

Victoria was reached on October 1, and the return trip was commenced after a short stay there.
Perhaps the most notable of royal visits to Canada was that of King Edward, then the Prince of Wales, in 1860.

In 1859 the parliament of Canada invited Queen Victoria to come to Canada to lay the cornerstone of the parliament building at Ottawa and officially open the Victoria bridge.
She could not come, but the following year sent Prince of Wales, then a young man, in her stead. This was one of the greatest events as regards the participation of royalty in Canadian affairs that has ever taken place.

One hundred thousand dollars was appropriated by parliament for the entertainment of the prince and his party. On the 21st of August he was received at Quebec by the governor general and both houses of parliament, headed by their speakers, Messrs. Narcisse F. Belleau and Henry Smith, both of whom were knighted by his royal highness.

After two days' festivities at Quebec, the royal party left for Montreal. After opening the new industrial exhibition building, the ceremony at the Victoria bridge took place, and the future king not only laid a block of granite, but drove a silver sledge at the central span of the bridge, and was presented with a gold medal in commemoration of the event. A grand ball, a torchlight procession and a grand military review on Logan's farm brought the festivities to a close. On September 1 he laid the cornerstone of the parliament building at Ottawa, which was attended by notable festivities and afterward the prince visited different points in the country.

In 1878, her royal highness Princess Louise Caroline Alberta, Duchess of Saxony, the fourth daughter of Queen Victoria, came to Canada with her husband, the Marquis of Lorne, now Duke of Argyll, when he was appointed governor general of the dominion by Lord Beaconsfield's gov-

Woman Jumps in River With Child in Each Arm.

New York, July 21.—Despondent because of ill health and fearful of the fate that might await her two little children if they were left alone to face the world, Mrs. Gussie Benson sought peace for all beneath the waters of the East river. The bodies of the mother and her little ones lay side by side in the morgue awaiting burial.

For several years Mrs. Benson had lived with her husband and children on a South Dakota farm, but when her health failed she decided to return to her old home in this city.

Mrs. Benson sprang from a ferry boat with the children in her arms.

MISS DREW STRANGLED WHILE SHE WAS NOT WEARING A SHIRTWAIST.

GIRL WAS DRESSED ABNORMALLY

Clothing Heretofore Has Been Ignored in Investigation of Troy Mystery—Two New Acquaintances Found.

Troy, N. Y., July 21.—Articles of wearing apparel have furnished the clues from which a majority of murder mysteries have been solved. In the mystery surrounding the death of Hazel Drew very little attention has been paid by the authorities to the clothing found on the body of the murdered girl, says a special writer in the Post-Dispatch.

After Hazel's body had been taken to the undertaker's room at Averill park, her clothing was removed and made into a parcel and taken to the district attorney's office in Troy. There it has since remained and I do not think that it has been twice examined by the county officials who are at work on the case. It must be remembered that Hazel Drew was a neat and fastidious person.

There were found at Teals pond a black wire frame hat, adorned with two long black ostrich tips; a pair of badly soiled black kid gloves, wrist length; two hat pins and a handkerchief. The hat and gloves lay on the bank, the handkerchief was floating in the water.

On the body, were, first of all, two large black combs in the hair and a "rat" over which she had combed her pompadour. The hair was very yellow and very fluffy. She wore a white shirt waist, a corset cover, white cotton underwear, black shoes, black stockings, suspender garters and three skirts.

Remember, the thermometer at that time ranged above ninety and this girl was found with three skirts—a medium weight black cloth skirt, a heavy winter weight, black, silk underskirt and a heavy, well starched white undershirt.

There was no underwear or undershirt on the body. The corsets were next to the flesh. Six safety pins were attached to these garments, and two more such pins were found on the bank of the pond. Hazel Drew, we know, was not the sort of girl to adapt herself to the lazy use of safety pins.

The corset cover is the one garment, however that has a near relation to the crime. This particular corset cover, which is really a low-necked white waist, was lace trimmed around the bust and shoulders, had three buttons at the front and was tied at the waist with a white tape. Extending through the emroidery around the bust was shirred a pink silk ribbon a quarter of an inch wide and strong enough to hang a man. This garment was bought by Hazel at Freer's department store, Third and Fulton streets, Troy, as also were her corset, shirtwaist and skirts.

At Freer's I found the young woman who, for three years, had sold Hazel her corset covers. I purchased a duplicate cover of the same design and asked the young lady to put it on over her shirtwaist. This done, the garment was tied normally with the pink ribbon in the center of the chest, between the breasts.

The testimony of Dr. E. B. Boyce.

of Averill Park, the physician who first examined the body and performed the autopsy, will be that the corset cover was drawn up about the neck and the pink silk tape or ribbon was tied tightly under the chin causing strangulation and death.

Turning again to the young saleslady at Freer's, I requested her to crawl up the corset cover and tie the ribbon under her chin.

"O, sir, it cannot be done," she said. "It catches at the armpits and the only way to accomplish it would be to tear or rip the garment several inches under each arm."

A trial justified her statement. I then hastened back to the district attorney's office and examined the corset cover found on the body of Hazel Drew. To my surprise it had been torn into several parts and each had been raggedly and roughly torn, not merely ripped, from the armpits to the waist.

Here, then, was actual proof that Hazel Drew was strangled at a time when she was not wearing her shirtwaist. The corset cover could not have been torn and drawn up on the neck, and the red ribbon tied under her chin so tightly as to cause strangulation under and beneath a shirtwaist, the high collar of which encircled the neck of the girl.

The missing underwear, the absence, possibly, of a chemise, the three heavy skirts, the wearing of the corset stays next to the flesh, and, most of all, the torn corset cover with the pink ribbon choking the victim, proves absolutely that Hazel Drew was dressed abnormally, unusually, unnatural to Hazel or her habits.

The girl's uncle, William Taylor, was under suspicion for a time, as she was seen walking toward his farm the night of the crime, but since it has been proved that she did not visit the Taylor farm, Taylor is no longer involved. Hazel Drew did not know Frank Richmond and his wife, employees of Taylor, and this fact helped establish her absence from the farm on the fateful evening.

Here's Another Clew.

Troy, N. Y., July 21.—With the remarkable shift in the trail of Hazel Drew's murderer from the mountains above Tarrytown to the city of Troy, fifteen miles away, comes the astonishing evidence that the victim was not only receiving letters from a young Troy dentist, but received notes from, and often met, a trainman on the fast mail running between New York and Lake George. Both these men are known to the police from letters found among the girl's effects and statements of friends and relatives.

Strangely enough, Hazel's kinfolks have broken their stubborn silence and are now fully in accord with District Attorney O'Brien's endeavors to unravel the mystery.

So weighty is the evidence that Hazel Drew was known by the fast mail trainman and so extraordinarily do the known movements of the girl fit into his possible whereabouts on Monday and Tuesday, July 6 and 7, that two detectives were dispatched to New York to question the man.

The young dentist whom Hazel had visited three nights before her death has explained that the visit was a business one, but that she wanted her teeth fixed at night, so as not to interfere with her work. As a plain matter of fact, Hazel Drew was last seen in Troy Monday at 11:30 a. m. by Mrs. Mary Robertson, of 131 Bedford street, and Mrs. Robertson's 9-year-old daughter, Nellie, in the Union station. Every other identification of the girl in Troy Monday and Tuesday has been practically broken down and discarded.

CITY COUNCIL MEETING

No Business of Great Importance Last Night.

Mayor Baddock rapped for order at the regular meeting of the city council at 8:15 o'clock last night.

Messrs. Anier and Hatton were absent. Minutes of previous meeting were read, approved and ordered filed, on motion of Mr. Sullivan.

A petition for an arc light at Sixteenth and Brown streets and Fourteenth and Brown streets was referred to the lighting committee.

Joseph Paradisi and H. H. Rodman applied for the lease of stall No. 1 at the market house. The former agreed to pay $75 monthly rental, provided a doorway is placed at the corner of the building, at Second street and Osage avenue, and a plate glass window is placed in the north and east walls. The latter agreed to pay the same rental, provided a door be placed in the corner of the building, with a window in the north wall. The matter was not settled.

Under reports of officers, a report of the completion of paving the alley between Sixth and Seventh streets and Ohio and Lamine avenues, was made by the committee. Commissioner Gorrell of the Twelve-Mile Road district, reported that work had been done with the city's steam roller.

A motion to allow Contractor Johnson $15 for repairing Kentucky avenue was carried.

After receiving reports from Engineer Leaming and Inspector Fuller on the completion of the paving of the alley between Sixth and Seventh streets and Ohio and Lamine avenues the council passed an ordinance accepting the work.

An ordinance for sidewalks on the north and south sides of Tenth street from the M. K. & T. tracks east to Wagner avenue, was passed.

Engineer Leaming's estimate for doing the work was received and filed. All properly audited bills were allowed and warrants were ordered drawn to pay the same.

Three bills, contracted by Chief Willis, of the fire department, aggregating almost $200, were allowed, on motion of Mr. Olmsted.

Adjourned until Wednesday night to pass a sewer ordinance.

TO PROVE MEADOWS IS ALIVE

Defense to Show He Converted With Wife After June 4, 1907.

Oklahoma City, Okla., July 21.—The defense in the Meadows trial began its side of the case before Judge Clark last afternoon. One hundred and five witnesses have been summoned.

In his statement to the jury Attorney Menden said that the defense would show that Mrs. Meadows was not guilty of conspiracy to kill her husband, and that the dead body found near this place in June of last year was not that of James R. Meadows, and that witnesses would be produced to testify that Meadows was seen after June 4, when he is supposed to have been killed, and that he actually conversed with Mrs. Meadows after that time.

IT IS SERIOUS.

Some Sedalia People Fail to Realize the Seriousness.

The constant aching of a bad back, The weariness, the tired feeling, The pains and aches of kidney ills Are serious—if neglected. Dangerous urinary troubles follow. A Sedalia citizen shows you how to avoid them.

P. Disque, living at 1109 South Ohio st., Sedalia, Mo., says: "My wife was greatly annoyed with pains in the small of her back just over the region of her kidneys. At such times she was scarcely able to get up from a chair after sitting for some time, and the secretions from the kidneys were too frequent and were often accompanied by a sensation of scalding. A neighbor advised her to try Doan's Kidney Pills, and she procured them at Bard Drug Co. They helped her so much that she kept on taking them until she had used three boxes. Several months have passed since then and there has been no sign of the trouble. Mrs. Disque feels that she can conscientiously add her testimony to that of others who have been cured by Doan's Kidney Pills."

Remember also name—Doan's—and take no other.

THE CROPS IN MISSOURI

H. J. Horner is Optimistic Regarding the Outlook.

H. J. Horner, a farmer living near Sedalia, Mo., and Joe Kehl, a butcher of that place, came in today to buy cattle, says the Kansas City Daily Drovers' Telegram of the 20th. The latter has been a buyer here for some time, but Mr. Horner never has bought here before. He is after stockers.

"It is surprising to see how the corn crop is coming out," said Mr. Horner. "For a good while it looked discouraging, and we thought the corn crop would be almost a failure. But the weather the past two weeks has had a wonderful effect on the corn. It has brought the late planting along until it is almost up with the early."

"The favorable weather afforded farmers a chance to get into the fields and plow the corn and clean it up, which had a very good effect upon it, so after all, it looks favorable for farmers now, and with a bumper hay and grass crop we are going to be all right. The hay crop is about the heaviest we ever had, and a good deal of it has been put up in fine shape."

ESPERANTIST CONGRESS

NEW ORGANIZATION DEVOTED TO PROPAGATION OF ZAM-ENHOF'S LANGUAGE.

THE SECOND DAY OF THE MEETING

It is Stated That There Are Now About 50,000 Persons in the United States Who Read, Write and Speak Esperanto.

Chautauque, N. Y., July 21.—The second day of the National Esperantist congress, the new organization devoted to the propagation of Dr. Zamenhof's universal language, Esperanto, was marked by a largely increased attendance. The morning was devoted to instruction. Addresses will be made this afternoon by Dr. D. O. S. Lowell and other leaders in the movement. An Esperanto reading will be held this evening.

It is stated that there are now about 50,000 persons in the United States able to write, read and speak Esperanto, and that the new language is rapidly gaining thousands of new converts. Many prominent men and women are now included in the list of Esperanto adherents. Officials of practically all international organizations and movements have recommended the study of the language, in order that correspondence may be carried on between men of different nations in Esperanto. The socialists, it is said, are especially active in spreading the Esperanto propaganda.

Commercial houses employing traveling men in foreign countries are also said to be adopting Esperanto. Leaders in the movement are highly enthusiastic and declare that Esperanto will soon become a truly universal language in all that the name implies.

What Ails You?

Do you feel weak, tired, despondent, have frequent headaches, coated tongue, bitter or bad taste in morning, "heartburn," belching of gas, acid risings in throat after eating, stomach gnaw or burn, fount, dizziness, spells, poor or variable appetite, nausea at times and kindred symptoms?

If you have any considerable number of the above symptoms you are suffering from biliousness, rapid liver with indigestion, or dyspepsia. Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery is made up of the most valuable medicinal principles known to medical science for the permanent cure of such abnormal conditions. It is a most efficient liver invigorator, stomach tonic, bowel regulator and nerve strengthener.

The "Golden Medical Discovery" is not a patent medicine or secret nostrum, a full list of its ingredients being printed on its bottle-wrapper and attested under oath. A glance at its formula will show that it contains no alcohol, or harmful habit-forming drugs. It is a fluid extract made with pure, triple-refined glycerine, of proper strength, from the roots of the following native American forest plants, viz., Golden Seal root, Stone root, Black Cherry bark, Queen's root, Bloodroot, and Mandrake root.

The following leading medical authorities, among a host of others, extol the foregoing roots for the cure of just such ailments as the above symptoms indicate: Prof. R. Bartholow, M. D., of Jefferson Med. College, Phila.; Prof. H. C. Wood, M. D., of Univ. of Pa.; Prof. Edwin M. Hale, M. D., of Hahnemann Med. College, Chicago; Prof. John King, M. D., of American Dispensary; Prof. Jno. M. Scudder, M. D., Author of Specific Medicines; Prof. Laurence Johnson, M. D., Med. Dept. Univ. of Materia Medica and Prof. in Bennett Medical College, Chicago. Send name and address on Postal Card to Dr. R. V. Pierce, Buffalo, N. Y., and receive free booklet giving extracts from writings of all the above medical authorities and many others endorsing the strongest possible terms, each and every ingredient of which "Golden Medical Discovery" is composed.

Why Cowboys Wear Long Hair.

The cowboy uttered an annoyed cry as one of his curls fell into the beer. "It ain't no affectation," he said. "What makes me and Buffalo Bill and all us plainsmen wear the hair long is it necessary to our health. 'You see, we are out in all weathers. Often hatless, the August sun beats on our heads like fire, and but for our hair we'd get sunstroke. Often we sleep on the ground at night, and him that ain't got long hair to cover his ears in sleepin' out invariably gets deaf in the ear what is slept on. Often, in winter storms, the hair protects the face from being friz.'"

The Will.

Our bodies are our gardens; to the which our wills are gardeners; so that if we will plant nettles, or sow lettuce; set hyssop, and weed up thyme; supply it with one gender of herbs, or distract it with many; either to have it sterile with idleness, or manured with industry; why, the power and corrigible authority of this lies in our wills. If the balance of our lives had not one scale of reason to poise another of sensuality, the blood and baseness of our natures would conduct us to most proposterous conclusions.—William Shakespeare.

Anticipating Him.

Night after night the exceedingly quiet and backward youth had called on a neighboring farmer's daughter, sitting perfectly mute beside her while she did all the entertaining. This night, however, the youth, wishing for a glass of water, suddenly surprised her by blurring out: "Say, Sal, will you—"

"Don't exert yourself, Reuben," she interrupted. "I understand. Yes. Have you brought the ring?"—The Bohemian.

BRYAN TO WIRE ARGUMENTS

Essays Rather Than Oratory, Says William E. Gonzales.

Columbia, S. C., July 21.—"Mr. Bryan's campaign will have at least one novel feature," said William E. Gonzales, editor of The State, who returned yesterday from a trip to the west, during which he twice visited the democratic standard bearer at Fairview. "That feature will be the resort to the pen rather than to the tongue; to the press rather than the platform."

When I appealed to Mr. Bryan to make as vigorous a canvass as in 1896, he reminded me that he was now twelve years older.

"And besides," said Mr. Bryan, "I believe I can be more effective in writing arguments for democracy than the newspapers can use, if they will, over my signature."

THIS GIRL IS AN HEIRESS

IOWA FORTUNE AWAITS MAID IF SHE CAN BE FOUND BY AUTHORITIES.

WAS LEFT IN A TEXAS POORHOUSE

Daughter of Josephine O'Neill is Believed to Be Somewhere in Texas—Now a Young Girl in Her Teens.

Fort Worth, Texas, July 21.—A former girl inmate of the Tarrant county poor farm is being sought in this city to come into an inheritance. The legacy comes from a grandfather, who recently died in Iowa. So far the search has been vain. Even the name of the heiress is unknown and efforts to trace her through the county records have failed. This search is being conducted by an Iowa bank. In their request for information they make the following statements:

"We wish to locate the whereabouts of a girl who, we believe, is in your city or locality. We do not know the girl's name, except that the child's mother was Josephine O'Neill, and died in one of the hospitals in your city. The child was in the Tarrant county farm for a short time and later was adopted by one Mary Martin about 1898.

"This is about all the information we are able to work up. However, we have made inquiry of the present superintendent of your farm and he says in answer that there seems to be no record of the case, although we have a letter for evidence received by her grandfather from the above mentioned farm about the above mentioned datum.

"The reason for our inquiry is that the grandfather of the girl died recently, leaving her a part of the insurance money."

Investigations of death records and hospitals was begun yesterday in an effort to fix the time the girl was left here. The task is a big one, but is progressing rapidly, and it is believed that the heiress will be found in a short time. The "child" would now be a young girl in her teens.

It is a strange coincidence that the death of one relative is to lift her back into independence as the death of another caused her to be left here without home or money.

ROB IN RED AUTOMOBILE

One Chicago Suspect Says His Mother Is Worth Millions.

Chicago, July 21.—Edward Fake, alias Stebbins, alleging himself to be the son of a rich San Francisco woman, and George Stafford, of Louisville, Ky., were indicted yesterday as a consequence of spectacular robberies, committed with the assistance of a large red automobile.

The method of the two men was to drive up to the home selected for their depredation, command themselves as familiar callers and then escape with whatever loot they had been able to gather.

They were fired upon several times by the police of North Shore suburbs. Fake, who claims his mother is worth a number of millions, blames extravagant living for his predicament.

Real Home Rules.

The brains of the average home are not all packed away in the cranium of the male head of the household. The real ruling, managing force of the home is the wife. The husband earns the money, it is true. But if he had the spending of it, the result would be chaos. The wife is the real chancellor of the exchequer.—Weekly Dispatch.

ROOSTER MOURNS FOR CHICK

Red Game Bantam Hatches One Egg
Out of Seven.

Riverhead, L. I., July 21.—There is gloom in the barnyard of Philip Stackpole in this place. The one chick hatched by his red game bantam rooster was found dead yesterday morning, when Master Stackpole went out to feed his flock.

The exact cause of death is unknown, but from appearances it seems as though the rooster, not being as handy as one of the feminine gender in bringing up a family, either stepped on his little son or nudged him so close that he smothered.

The rooster's long tail feathers drooped and almost literally trailed in the dust all day yesterday. His grief at the loss of his first born was quite pronounced.

Stackpole's rooster showed indications to sit, so he placed seven eggs beneath him. Only one of the seven hatched. Master Stackpole was as proud as the rooster. He intended to exhibit the bird and his chick in the fall fair, but now the rooster will have to be exhibited alone.

STIRRED UP A TOWN ROW

STRONG LANGUAGE IN A REMON-STRANCE AGAINST NE-BRASKA SALOON.

PETITION WAS SIGNED BY WOMEN

They Are Referred to as in the Same Class. With Idiots, Minors, and Insane Persons. Hence Are Not Taxed.

Barneston, Neb., July 21.—The question of granting a license to Walter I. Judah to run a saloon in Barneston has disturbed the peace and quietude of the village for several weeks past. Barneston is situated in Gage county and consequently is in the local option belt.

A license was sought some time ago by Judah and at once a remonstrance was drawn up and filed with the village clerk.

Judah was granted the license and the case was carried up to the district court at Beatrice, which reversed the license owing to some technical defect in the application.

Judah again secured signatures to a petition and another remonstrance was filed. Last week thirteen persons signed a petition against the granting of the license, and this was filed with Village Clerk Spencer.

This petition by its wording stirred up no little amount of excitement and an hour after its filing it was withdrawn to amend, after which it was again filed.

The objectionable part to the original remonstrance petition lay in the paragraph commenting on the women signers of the petition for the license, and, in substance, after citing the names of the women signers of the petition, says:

"They are not qualified signers of a saloon petition for the reason that they and each of them are women and not voters or electors, and have no voice by ballots in the government of villages, and can not do indirectly by signing a petition what they can not do directly by ballot; and that they and each of them, by reason of being women, are in the same class with idiots, insane persons, minors and Indians, not taxed."

The village board will set a date for the hearing of the remonstrance.

STOLEN RIDE MAY COST LIFE

Companions Cling to Injured Man on Roof of Fast Mail.

New York, July 21.—Unconscious from a fractured skull, Joseph Murphy, 30 years old, of Midland, Ont., yesterday was dangled from the roof of a fast mail train of the New York Central for two miles through the Park avenue tunnel by three companions who risked their lives to save him from instant death.

Murphy and his companions had stolen a ride from Syracuse on the roof of the car. Murphy was struck on the head by one of the girders in the tunnel. His companions seized him as he was about to fall from the car top.

Although there was scarcely a foot of space between the arch of the tunnel and the roof of the speeding train of which the men were clinging, they seized Murphy when he was struck, and, regardless of their own danger, clung to him until the train came to a stop. Murphy is expected to die.

CITY HAS SUICIDE EPIDEMIC

Twenty-One Die in Pittsburg in Twenty Days.

Pittsburg, July 21.—Pittsburg and vicinity are in the grasp of a suicide epidemic. Since July 1 twenty-one persons have ended their lives, while a dozen others unsuccessfully attempted self-destruction.

The frequency of the cases resulted in a conference yesterday called by Mr. Lang, commissioner of public safety, in which police and health officers participated, to take measures to prevent suicides.

"I believe if less publicity were given suicides," said Director Lang,
"it would have a tendency to check them. I believe, also, if the evil of self-destruction was taken up more by clergymen it would aid greatly in disabusing persons of the idea of destroying themselves. The sale of drugs and weapons may in some way control; but, after all, it is a moral question."

MOB THREATENS MISSOURIAN

Edward Wilson Has Narrow Escape

Cincinnati, O. July 21.—Edward Wilson, of Dayton, Cass county, Mo., who, according to the confession of John Hill, his pal, killed several rich men in Missouri and Indiana for their money, was nearly lynched by an angry mob of Clermont county farmers yesterday.

The mob attacked the jail, where Wilson and Hill are confined on the charge of killing George Washington Good, a recluse, but Sheriff Rapp and his deputies succeeded in dispersing them.

More attacks are feared, and, as Sheriff Rapp does not think the jail is strong enough to withstand an attack with reinforcements, he will transfer the prisoners to Cincinnati.

S.S.S. CURES OLD SORES

No old sore can heal until the cause which produces it has been removed.
External applications of salves, washes, lotions, etc., may reduce the inflammation and assist in keeping the place clean, but cannot cure the trouble because they do not reach its source. Old sores exist because the blood is infected with impurities and poisons which are constantly being discharged into the place. The nerves, tissues and fibres of the flesh are kept in a state of irritation and disease by being daily fed with the germ-laden matter thru the circulation, making it impossible for the sore to heal. S. S. S. cures chronic sores by its purifying action on the blood. It goes down into the circulation, and removes the poison-producing germs, impurities and morbid matters which are responsible for the failure of the place to heal.
S. S. S. makes the blood pure, fresh and healthy; then as new, rich blood is carried to the spot the healing process begins, all discharge ceases, the inflammation leaves, new tissue begins to form, the place fills in with firm, healthy flesh, and soon the sore is permanently cured. S. S. S. is purely vegetable, the safest and best blood purifier for young or old. Book on Sores and Ulcers and any medical advice free to all who write.

RUMBLINGS OF THE RAIL

COMMITTEE TO CLASSIFY THE
WESTERN RATES MEETS AT MANITOU.

COACH, CAB AND CABOOSE ITEMS

Matters of Interest Picked Up From Various Sources for the Benefit of Democrat-Sentinel Readers.

One of the most important meetings ever held by the Western Classification committee was commenced today at Manitou, Colo. This organization is composed of the traffic managers of the railroad lines west of Chicago and dictates the rates that shall apply on all commodities shipped west of the Mississippi river.

Four hundred and ninety-three articles are listed on the docket for re-adjustment. One of the most important is the question as to whether the roads shall raise the minimums on some 1250 commodities.

If such action should be taken the result would mean practically a raising of the rates. In addition to the railroads, most of the transportation bureaus of the country are represented at the conference.

Brought to Sedalia Hospital.

What came near proving a fatal accident occurred yesterday afternoon at the Katy station when Switchman W. A. Evans was thrown before a switch engine and severely injured, says Monday's parsons Sinn. The accident was peculiar in many ways, and it is little short of a miracle that Mr. Evans was not more seriously injured.

Mr. Evans had been riding on the pilot of the engine and as he stepped off for some purpose his foot slipped throwing him directly in front of the footboard, which struck him full in the back. He was then rolled beneath the cylinders and carried along in that position until the engine could be stopped.

Surgical aid was at once called and his injuries examined, after which he was removed to his home at 2515 Broadway avenue. He was taken to Sedalia this afternoon on No. 4, where he will remain until he has recovered from his injuries.

While Mr. Evans was severely injured, it is not thought that his hurts will result seriously, although his spine was badly strained and injured by the force with which he was struck by the footboard of the engine.

Branch Car Shops for Katy.

It is stated that the Katy will at once commence the work of carrying out the plan of establishing car shops in this city, says Monday's Parsons' Eclipse.

Sedalia was never the convenient point on the road to establish car shops, but shops were established there because Sedalia gave the Katy a bit bonus.

There has not been a time since the shops were established there that the company did not need shops in this city. They are needed as badly here as machine shops are needed at Denver.

Pianos were made a year ago for using the old round house in this city for car shops, and machinery was ordered for the purpose. The Sedalia shops are almost at one end of the system, and Parsons being the central point on the system, the shops in this city would be so conveniently situated that it would be worth a great deal to the road.

A vast amount of rolling stock is in bad condition and the road needs car shops here badly now.

Decision in Employees' Favor.

The shop employees of the Canadian Pacific railway gained a signal victory at Winnipeg, Manitoba, Monday, when the conciliation board, which has been investigating the matters in dispute between the company and the men for several weeks presented its report.

The nine-hour day will continue to prevail in the west and will soon be granted in the east. No reduction was made in the scale of wages. There will be no sliding scale and helpers will not be allowed to use tools.

No increase was granted in the wages of apprentices. In future the grievance committee of the employees is to be paid for time lost waiting on the company, if the men are found to have a grievance. The company gained some points, principally regarding the make-up of wrecking crews and the matter of overlapping time.

Katy Patient Discharged.

J. B. Hotchkiss, an M. K. & T. passenger engineer, the oldest running engineer in point of service out of Parsons, Kas., who was injured in the head-end collision between the Katy flyer and a freight train near Muskogee, Okla., on June 8, last, and who has been a patient at the company hospital since, was discharged today and left for home on train No. 3.

SEDALIANS IN HOWARD

Had a Royal Good Time North of the Missouri River.

J. C. Brown, the insurance hustler, who returned recently in company with Misses Lillie and Goldie Brandt from a sojourn in Howard county, was written of as follows in last Tuesday's Armstrong Herald:

Mr. J. C. Brown and Misses Lillie and Goldie Brandt, of Sedalia, the highly valued friends and acquaintances of Mr. Henry Peeler and wife, were the honored guests last week of the latter at their magnificent country home, five miles south of this city.

The Sedalians enjoyed the country outing very much indeed, breathing in the pure air that surrounds the elevated mansion of the Peelers, and viewing with ecstasy and delight the grand scenic panorama of nature's landscape which spreads out in its vastness around the old ante-bellum southern homestead for many miles.

Mr. Brown was a fine conversationalist, while the young ladies were rare musicians, performing equally well on the piano and violin.

Taken altogether, the entertainers and the entertained spent a week of mutual pleasure and enjoyment in each others' society, which will be long treasured in memory's cell in years to come.

PANIC IN A SCHOOL

One Hundred and Fifty Children Threatened With Death.

Pittsburg, Pa., July 21.—Fire which started in the Holmes public school from burning waste paper in the basement, caused a panic today among the 150 children attending the vacation term of the school.

The large building rapidly filled with smoke, and the children, screaming and almost suffocated, rushed from the structure in great disorder. Many of them were thrown down and trampled, but all the injuries sustained were slight.
